

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- A method and apparatus for providing an improved Internet camera is described. The method of keeping a periodically refreshed image on a user's system comprises receiving a plurality of images, and identifying a most
- 5 interesting image. The method further comprises selecting the most interesting image as a current image, and sending the current image to the user.

Patent & Trademark Office